

Tailored Training and Group Courses

Colchester English Study Centre has a rich academic history. We have developed over 1,250 specialised English language and teacher training courses for a wide range of clients since our foundation in 1969. This makes us your best choice for English language courses that meet your particular training objectives.

Our dedicated team will work with you from your initial enquiry to help identify your course needs and prepare a training brief with you. Our Head of Studies will then contact you to develop the needs analysis and will coordinate your course, managing the academic preparation of your programme through to final delivery by our teachers.
